COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course explores the role of language in articulating, maintaining, and subverting power relations in society. Drawing from Communication Studies and Applied Linguistics, the course provides students with the tools to uncover, describe, and critically analyze the various (strategic) biases in language that create and reinforce power asymmetries in society.

The objective of this course is to explore the role of language in articulating, maintaining, and subverting power relations in society. We will consider the interplay between linguistics and extra-linguistic factors such as race/ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation, as well as what linguistic factors index power relationships in specific types of discourse, such as media discourse, political discourse, and institutional discourse. Additionally, this course aims to provide students with the meta-language and analytical tools to describe, analyze, and uncover the various (strategic) biases in language, as well as articulate how these biases reflect, maintain, and create power relationships among individual speakers and in society.

COURSE PREREQUISITES:

COM1000 or SPC2300 for Comm. Studies Minor students, or with permission by the instructor; none for Linguistics students, although LIN 3010 and/or LIN 4600 are recommended; (Note: Students do not need to be doing Comm. Studies or Linguistics to take this course)

GENERAL EDUCATION OBJECTIVES AND STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

This course is a Social and Behavioral Sciences (S) subject area course and a (D) Diversity course in the UF General Education Program.

Social and behavioral science courses provide instruction in the history, key themes, principles, terminology, and underlying theory or methodologies used in the social and behavioral sciences. Students will learn to identify, describe and explain social institutions, structures or processes. These courses emphasize the effective application of accepted problem-solving techniques. Students will apply formal and informal qualitative or quantitative analysis to examine the processes and means by which individuals make personal and group decisions, as well as the evaluation of opinions, outcomes or human behavior. Students are expected to assess and analyze ethical perspectives in individual and societal decisions.

In Diversity courses, students examine the historical processes and contemporary experiences characterizing social and cultural differences within the United States. Students engage with diversity as a dynamic concept related to human differences and their intersections, such as (but not limited to) race, gender identity, class, ethnicity, religion, age, sexual orientation, and (dis)abilities. Students critically analyze and evaluate how social inequities are constructed and affect the opportunities and constraints across the US population. Students analyze and reflect on the ways in which cultures and beliefs mediate their own and other people's understandings of themselves and an increasingly diverse U.S. society.

At the end of this course, students will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication, and critical thinking:

SUBJECT AREA	CONTENT	COMMUNICATION	CRITICAL THINKING

ATTENDANCE & PARTICIPATION (CoVid Edition):

Your attendance and participation in class is significant to your success in the class. Attendance will be taken daily by typing in the Zoom chat box when you get to class. If you have not signed the roll sheet over chat, you will be counted as absent. If you come to class unprepared, you may be asked to leave and counted as absent for that class period.

NOTE: In the rare case of class being canceled, you will likely be given an assignment to do instead. In order to receive credit for your attendance/participation grade for that day, you must submit that assign by Midnight on Canvas on the day it is due. Always check your email before class for updates from me.

How absences affect your grade:

A student is allowed to miss three hours of class material without incurring a penalty. There are not 'excused' and 'unexcused' days. You can use your 3 hours for any reason, but after that, penalties start to accrue. If all of your absences are due to documented emergencies and exceed two, you should communicate with your teacher in a timely manner.

For each hour missed beyond the 3 allowed hours, a total of 20 points will be deducted (i.e. 4 hours absent= -20pts; 5 hours absent= -40pts). If the penalty exceeds the 100 participation points, the 20 points per absence will then come off the total grade out of 600 in the class.

If a student misses more than 6 'unexcused' hours during a semester, they will fail the entire course. The Dial Center exempts from this policy only those absences involving university-sponsored events, such as athletics and band, and religious holidays. Absences related to university-sponsored events must be discussed with the instructor prior to the date that will be missed.

How tardiness affects your grade:

If students are not on Zoom at the start of class, this disrupts the entire class, and students will be considered late. If a student leaves class early, this will also be considered as a 'tardy.' Three instances of tardiness count as one absence. If a student is only in attendance for under 40 of the 50 minutes of class, the student will be counted as 'absent' and not just 'tardy.'

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

LATE ASSIGNMENTS:

Late assignments or make-up exams will not be permitted without a University-approved absence. No late work is accepted for unexcused absences. If you think you will be unable to turn in an assignment on time, please let me know with at least 24 hours notice and I will consider an alternative due date for extenuating circumstances.

STUDENT CONDUCT:

The Dial Center for Written and Oral Communication strives for a classroom climate that is comfortable for all. Students are expected to behave according to the UF student code of conduct in their classes. This means treating their instructors and fellow classmates with respect. To ensure a positive learning environment, students should not: make complaints publicly (in front of other students); attack the instructor verbally, physically, or in written form; or express reactions in the classroom that would bring harm to other students. Failure to meet the UF code of conduct can impact a student's class participation grade or result in referral to the UF judicial office. Class atmosphere can be made or broken by the approach that students take to the challenges of the course. Students that support others, show good humor in the face of obstacles, show dedication in the face of setbacks, and show grace when others are not doing as well will help to create a positive communication climate.

In a communication class, it is especially important for each of us to:

- Display respect for all members of the classroom – including the instructor and students;
- Pay attention to and participate in all class sessions and activities;
- Avoid racist, sexist, homophobic, or other negative language that may unnecessarily exclude members of our campus and classroom;
- Avoid unnecessary disruption during class time (e.g., having private conversations, reading the newspaper, surfing the internet, doing work for other classes, making/receiving cell phone calls, text messaging, etc.).

ACCOMMODATIONS:

Please inform me if I can do anything to make sure physical circumstances don't get in the way of your work. UF's official statement on ADA issues includes: " Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/ ) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter, which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester." I'd appreciate your paperwork the first week of class.

Other resources are available at <http://www.distance.ufl.edu/getting-help> for:

- Counseling and Wellness resources
- Disability resources
- Resources for handling student concerns and complaints
- Library Help Desk support

U MATTER, WE CARE:

Your well-being is important to the University of Florida. The U Matter, We Care initiative is committed to creating a culture of care on our campus by encouraging members of our community to look out for one another and to reach out for help if a member of our community is in need. If you or a friend is in distress, please contact umatter@ufl.edu so that the U Matter, We Care Team can reach out to the student in distress. A nighttime and weekend crisis counselor is available by phone at 352-392-1575. The U Matter, We Care Team can help connect students to the many other helping resources available including, but not limited to, Victim Advocates, Housing staff, and the Counseling and Wellness Center. Please remember that asking for help is a sign of strength. In case of emergency, call 9-1-1.

HONOR CODE:

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge, which states, "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: 'On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.' Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult the instructor for this class." For more information, refer to UF's Student Conduct & Honor Code, <https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/students/student-conduct-code/>

COURSE EVALUATIONS:

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/>.

COURSE HOMEPAGE:

The course homepage on Canvas (<http://lss.at.ufl.edu>) will be central to the class. You will be able to access readings, worksheets, and the class discussion boards through the homepage. I will update it regularly with news and syllabus changes. Although I will make announcements in class and/or send e-mails regarding the assignments and schedule, it is your responsibility to check the homepage for updates.

CHAPTER SYNOPSES:

Chapter 1: Language?: Introduces us to the concept of language as a system with structure and variation. Discusses how people use language to exercise power and create rules about how individuals should use language.

Chapter 2: Language, thought, and representation: Discusses how the way people represent the world through language matters. (e.g. Sapir-Wharf Hypothesis). Every language choice, whether conscious or not, demonstrates an ideology.

Chapter 3: Language & Politics: Discusses how politics are everywhere (e.g. political movements, Higher Ed., toys, financial systems), and if we pay attention to the language used in these domains, we can uncover the ideologies underpinning the persuasive arguments they are making.

Chapter 4: Language & the Media: Explores the language used by the media and the role mass media plays in society and the power it exercises. We look at how language is filtered and represented, how lexical and syntactic choices belie ideological viewpoints, and how concepts like “expert” are socially constructed.

Chapter 5: Linguistic Landscapes: Explores the importance of physical signs and spatial representations as a means of communicating ideological information, as well as how individuals may use transgressive signs to counter conventional ideas.

Chapter 6: Language & Gender: Looks at how status differences between men and women are created through language and continue to promote everyday sexism.

Chapter 7: Language & Ethnicity: Discusses how language can be used to demonstrate/claim/challenge claims to an ethnicity or “authenticity” of belonging to an ethnic group.

Chapter 8: Language & Age: Explores how age plays an important role in social hierarchies, as well as the societal expectations and pressures to (not) use particular kinds of language during certain life stages. These expectations can constrain and/or marginalize members of a particular life stage.

Chapter 9: Language & Symbolic Capital: Explores the social construction of social class and its intersection with particular linguistic features. We also discuss how certain linguistic features associated with particular classes carry more 'symbolic capital' than others.

Chapter 10: Global Englishes: Explores the concept of linguistic imperialism and how/why global English can't be considered a single way of speaking. We discuss how every variety has its own values and meanings attached to it, some with more prestige than others.

DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENTS:

Class attendance/participation (100 pts)

- Syllabus welcome quiz
- Discussion Boards "Chapter thoughts"
- In-class activities

Homework (Complete 3 of 5 assignments x 50 pts each) (150 pts)

- Language & Politics
- Linguistic Landscapes
- Language & Gender
- Language & Age
- Symbolic Capital

Arrival Reaction paper (30 pts)

Discussion Boards (10 pts x 4) (40 pts)

Perusal papers (15 pts x 2) (30 pts)

Activity/Discussion Leader (50 pts)

Exam 1 (100 points)

Exam 2 (100 points)

TOTAL: 600 Pts

Extra Credit: 15 pts. possible

Lecture notes/commentary

There is an expectation that for each lecture you will be annotating using Discussion Boards at least 2 things you learned in the lecture, 2 things you found interesting, and at least 1 remaining question you have for me to clarify during our class Zoom sessions.

Discussion Boards

Over the course of the semester, I will have several discussion boards to extend our in-class discussions of the texts. You are required to participate in at least 4 of the discussion boards during the semester. In order to receive full credit for participating in each DB, you need to make at least 1 post, 2 comments on a classmate's post, and 1 follow-up to either someone else's comment(s) on your post or someone else's.

Activity/Discussion Leader

During Week 2, each student will sign up to present a short media clip (as a pair/group) dealing with the theme we are discussing in that module. Students signed up for a given week have a lot of freedom in choosing what they want to discuss, but whatever you choose should be interesting and serve a springboard for discussion with the rest of the class.

You will then work with your partner(s) to devise an interactive activity and discussion around the clip to be done synchronously in-class. You may also use VoiceThread or Breakout Rooms in Zoom to facilitate the discussion. Students are strongly encouraged to talk to Prof. Butler in advance to go over clip choice and possible discussion questions/activity.

On activity day, you will first present a very short overview of the clip to the class before leading a 20 min activity on the clip. Your grade will be based on (1) choice of clip, (2) quality of discussion questions or activity to be done in class, (3) how well you facilitate interaction to keep the conversation moving, (4) general presentation skills, (5) preparedness

Arrival Reaction Paper

You will write a reaction paper after watching the movie Arrival. Reaction papers should be approximately 2-4 pages in length (double-spaced, 12-pt, Times New Roman font, 1" margins).

This paper has specific questions on the movie themes that you will answer. In addition, you will briefly summarize the movie (2-4 paragraphs) before explaining what you liked and/or didn't like about it and why. You will be expected to utilize the terminology from Chapter 2 in your paper. Reaction papers are always due by midnight and will be submitted to CANVAS on the due date listed on the schedule.

Perusall Papers

Instead of 2 additional reaction papers to supplemental articles throughout the semester, I would like you to interact with 2 different articles using Perusall. This will allow you and others to have an interactive discussion on the article and engage more fully with each text. I will provide a list of articles that are eligible for Perusall on Canvas.

Exams

Exam 1 will cover material from the first 5 chapters of the book (Ch. 1-5). Exam 2 will cover material from the last 5 chapters of the book (Ch. 6-10). Both exams will be composed of definitions, T/F, multiple-choice questions, short answer or matching, and a short essay. All exams will be taken online using Honorlock.

Extra Credit

I will use some of the questions for the exams based on questions you have submitted. For extra credit, create 20 questions & answers for one of our two exams. Use multiple choice (4 choices) or T/F types of questions ONLY. Indicate the answers below each question and make sure multiple-choice questions have 4 possible answers each. (Note: Separate and label questions by Chapter.)

You must submit the Extra Credit on CANVAS by midnight (see schedule). Plan ahead. This set of questions is worth up to 10 points added to your total point score (out of 600) for the course. Note: you will not receive extra points for questions to both exams.

Additionally, I am always looking for real-world examples of language use in articles, video clips, etc. to use in class to demonstrate a particular theme. You may email me examples that you find that you think will be interesting to the rest of the class, and if I like it, you will receive 5 extra credit points.
